Gabriel Silversmith, MD

InnovAge Colorado PACE

“PACE is a wonderful model that allows me to do what I love – care for older adults with complex needs by working as part of a tight-knit team of skilled professionals.”

— Gabriel Silversmith

Dr. Silversmith earned his medical degree at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, a Master of Science degree in Behavioral Decision Research at Carnegie Mellon University, and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Cognitive Science/Psychology at Yale University. He completed a residency in internal medicine at Montefiore Medical Center in NY. Dr. Silversmith is board certified in internal medicine.

A passion for caring for older adults is a theme that runs through all of Dr. Silversmith’s work experience. Prior to joining InnovAge PACE, he worked at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York City where he helped develop the Mobile Acute Care Team, which treats acute conditions in the home instead of the hospital. He staffed and helped advance a “high risk clinic” that provides primary care, care coordination, and social services to people who are treated frequently in hospitals and emergency departments. He also worked at Kaiser Permanente as a home visit doctor for home-bound patients.

Dr. Silversmith speaks Spanish. He grew up in New York City and has lived in New England and Pittsburgh. He is married and has two small children. He enjoys running, cycling and hiking.
